SUMMARY

I hold a master's degree in Islamic Education and religion, and currently I am pursuing a PhD in curriculum and instruction methods. With 12 years of experience in the education field, I have developed a strong background in teaching and learning methods. I have had the opportunity to work with students of varying abilities and disabilities, including those with special needs and gifts. My expertise includes outstanding lesson planning, high lesson standards, curriculum design, and contributing to department improvement plans. In 2023, our Islamic department achieved outstanding status under my tenure as part of a dedicated team. Throughout my career, I have employed evidence-based teaching strategies to cater to diverse student populations. For instance, I have utilized differentiated instruction techniques to accommodate students with learning disabilities or those who are gifted learners. Moreover, I have integrated technology into my lessons to make learning more engaging and interactive. As a PhD candidate in education, I have gained in-depth knowledge in areas such as curriculum development and adaptation, leadership and management, and excellent teaching techniques for creating outstanding classroom environments.

KEY ACHIEVEMENTS

Contributing to the Arabic reading challenge as an examiner in 2017 - 2019

Judging students, determining their reading levels, selecting winners at the level of the countries participating in the competition, and motivating students to participate

Internal Examiner for School-wide Islamic Competitions 2016- 2024

Encourage students to participate, raise their skills in the areas where the competition took place, and select winners at the school level

Raised 80% of students' performance and attainment in Islamic studies 2016- 2024

By focusing on deep learning, taking into account individual differences and using multiple strategies, students achieved standards beyond expectations.
